WE NOMINATE

Henry DeWolf Smyth, eminent physicist properly credited with making the American people aware of the phrase "atomic energy" and probably the first Princetonian ever to combine United States ambassadorial rank with active service in education, who has returned to the nation's front pages as Chairman of the Advisory Committee charged with reviewing "U.S. Policy toward the International Atomic Energy Agency." It is the gist of this second "Smyth Report," prepared in the face of wishy-washy American policy, that the 77-nation, Vienna-based agency is readying "for future activities of great significance," including the development of relatively cheap nuclear power.

A little over 12 months ago the 64-year old Smyth, son of an eminent Princeton geologist and in 1951 the lone member of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission to vote against denying access to Government atomic information to Robert Oppenheimer, was tapped as United States Representative to the International Agency. At that time, University President Robert F. Goheen emphasized that Smyth, while commuting between Vienna and the Pyne Administration Building, would continue to serve as a full-time member of the Faculty as well as Chairman of the University Research Board that shapes policy for programs running into tens of millions of dollars.

With characteristic energy and thoroughness, Smyth, described by a colleague as a "hard-headed scientist combining ideals and facts," hammered out a program that for the first time hung flesh on the skeletal U.S. Atoms for Peace Program projected by Washington in 1953. Behind the recent report lies Smyth's conception: "If we recognize science for what it is—a human achievement, one of the finest examples of how men can cooperate in using disciplined imagination to advance their knowledge—we can hope that men of science may be so used as to add strength to the judgments of our statesmen."

A native of Clinton, N. Y., but a resident of Princeton—with interruptions here and there—since age 7, Smyth whirled through Princeton as a Phi Beta Kappa member of the Class of 1918, completed his graduate work here, and went on to Cambridge (England) for a second Ph.D. He joined the Princeton Faculty in 1921 and 12 years later, a year following his designation as Chairman of the Department of Physics, was elevated to a full professorship. In the interim he had become one of this country's first native-born specialists in atomic structure, and a logical candidate to play his key role in the development of the atomic bomb.

Smyth, a consultant to the Manhattan Engineer District that actually produced the A-Bomb, was called upon in 1944 to write his now famous report which, directly or indirectly, gave most Americans their first glimpse into the atomic age. He began work with the idea that it would take 2 months; "Atomic Energy" took the better part of 15. It was produced under conditions of top-level security and issued only after the most agonizing scrutiny, paragraph by paragraph. Although well over 160,000 copies have been sold, Smyth has not profited in any way. He put up the $2.00 for copyright, relinquished the copyright, and today remains $2.00 out of pocket.

For his achievements as scientist, educator and diplomat-administrator of the first rank; for seeing that the "peaceful uses of atomic energy should play an important and fruitful role in our foreign policy"; for casting new light on the potential strength inherent in international organization; he is 'TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

This Is PRINCETON

TOWNSHIP SIGNS ON

But Will Plan Own School.
Mr. Rohrer and I agree that the first step will be to determine what steps necessary to determine
high school of high school in the Township would like to have,
planning to develop the next
ten years to this tremendous definitely complex and detailed project.

And by the end of the meeting, the Board had agreed to take this summer or early fall, the first step in determining
what steps necessary to determine
high school of high school in the Township would like to have,
planning to develop the next
ten years to this tremendous
definitely complex and detailed
project.

Mr. Carson made his community the Board presented its most recent communication from Graham Rohrer, president of the Borough Board of Education.

In addition, on June 20,
Mr. Rohrer asked again about sending its children to the Borough's Princeton High School, seeking a decision so that it can make its other sending districts by the end of the month.

"It has something of the flavor of an ultimatum," commented Mr. Pearson.

Following a two-hour discussion, the Board finally passed a resolution, which stated that it "agrees to continue the present sending-receiving relationship with the Princeton Borough Board of Education through the academic year 1969-70 and that continuation beyond that date be contingent on the results of a major study during this period."
The "major study" of course, being the plans for a new school building.

Mr. Rohrer said that at the time he made his request he was "tenants rights" until
the Commissioner of Education
after a hearing, allows the Borough to put you out."

"It would be a rash action
to commit the Township to 10-
or, actually, 13—more years
at Princeton High School,"
said Mr. Pearson.

"Uncertain," said Dr. John
McKenna, superintendent of Township schools.

The Proposals. "We have
made no progress in the proposal made in Mr. Pearson's letter, and we should restate
the things that trouble us,"
said Lawrence Thompson of
the Board.

Mr. Pearson said that, in a memorandum to Mr. Rohrer,
he had re-stated these matters.

HISTORIC MEETING

For the first time in Borough and Township history
—so far as anyone can recall—the two governing bodies will meet for the specific purpose of discussing consolidation.

The closed meeting, scheduled for this Wednesday evening at the Borough Hall, will be called so that mayors, councilmen and committee-
men can discuss the letters and memos on consideration which have come back and forth in recent weeks between mayors, and the between mayors and the boards.

In addition, the two groups will talk about their projected joint application for an "Open Space Fund" of the Township, and an order of priority, and would like to be sure that the Borough agrees on what pieces of land should go first.

But consolidation is the prime and specific subject on the agenda, as it has never been before. To coin a phrase, "Mirabile dictu."

Township high school.

"The Borough has the space and other sending districts are waiting to move in, if we don't commit to Mrs. Richard Schuch of the Board."

"We can't stand alone until 1970," said Board member Leonard E. Hymerling.

Commenting on receipt of the Township's resolution at the Borough Board of Education meeting Tuesday night,
five members of the Township
meeting, Mr. Rohrer said:

"This situation has been solved to the joint satisfaction of the Borough and Township.
The problem is gone. We are Princeton Township because we are both part of the same community."

Would Like 10. The Borough had specifically asked for a 10-year renewal instead of the 5-year plan voted on by the Township. Somebody on the Township Board was interested in such an extension.

"A 10-year agreement that began in 1965 would actually be a 13-year extension," pointed out Gordon Griffin, Township attorney. "That's over half a generation."

Endorsing this 10-year extension, Mr. Rohrer said: "I think that at this time that we have 'tenants rights' until
the Commissioner of Education
after a hearing, allows the Borough to put you out."

"It would be a rash action
to commit the Township to 10-
or, actually, 13—more years
at Princeton High School,"
said Mr. Pearson.

"Uncertain," said Dr. John
McKenna, superintendent of
Township schools.

The Proposals. "We have
made no progress in the proposal made in Mr. Pearson's
letter, and we should restate
the things that trouble us,"
said Lawrence Thompson of
the Board.

Mr. Pearson said that, in a
memorandum to Mr. Rohrer,
he had re-stated these matters.

"There is a below-the-surface interest in this control," said Dr. Robert Palmer, who was also a visitor. "Whatever action the Board takes tonight may bring this interest out in the open."

Hope for Help. In discussing the resolution and its decision to plan for a high school, the Township Board stressed that if a merger of schools or of municipalities should occur during the next two years, in the contract, the agreement would automatically be abrogated.

In addition, the Board said it hoped the Borough would cooperate in the studies involved in planning a new high school.

The question of a school merger was raised Tuesday night at the Borough Board of Education meeting when a petition signed by 1,000 residents and presented by Robert Palmer was read to the Board. "TOWN TOPICS, June 3, 1962"

In commenting on the petition, which asks the appointment of a citizens' committee to study a merger of Borough and Township school systems, Mr. Palmer pointed out that the ultimate bad change since Mr. Palmer's petition was received, early in June,

He cited the agreement with the Township on the high school and the correspondence between Borough and Township governing the proposed consolidation.

"It is my opinion," he said, "that the possible consolidation of the school systems can only be achieved with the mutual consolidation. We are hopeful that the two municipalities will study the whole problem of which the consolidation of the two schools would be part with the study done on a professional basis."

Mr. Reider and he preferred the appointment of professionals in education, taxes and law to the appointment of a citizens' committee so far as a merger or a consolidation study was concerned.

"For public acceptance you would have to have an objective study. This is a very complicated problem which involves the total community structure."

Mr. Reider said that the matter had not blocked a study of school merger at any time, and Board member James Finch, a member of the committee, is a local resident who has been instrumental in both sides—Borough and Township—so far as the study of possible merger is concerned."

First Meeting Held. In a report on the preliminary meeting of the Borough's Ad Hoc Committee on Consolidation, Township board member A. Robert Trudeau expressed optimism about the future of the committee, adding that it is the Borough's attempt to work cooperatively in forming a high school curriculum.

"The Board's committee is a meaningful committee," reported Mr. Trudeau, "and the whole atmosphere was encouraging. Our first meeting, in our state, I think, however, the committee can only be advisory, and there is no way of forcing the Borough to do what it wants to do."

Mr. Trudeau reported the Borough's hope that the scope of the committee would be broad, including not only educational materials, but also athletics, teacher salaries and qualification, guidance and so on.

And Also... In other action Thursday night, the Township Board voted to continue its flexible policy permitting only one child per kindergarten or first grade based on the individual child recommending a general tightening of selection procedures. The Board also told Town

Caryl S. Kommer

A friend showed us a little saying by Richard Gorer which we thought you'd enjoy, so we gladly passed it along. He said:

"The secret of success is not to do extraordinary things, but to do ordinary things extraordinarily well." We read that among the great accomplishments of mankind, at first seem like extraordinary things. But when you consider that often they are the result of men doing their daily jobs to the best of their ability. Many inventors, scientists, and men who have created great principles of thought to the world were actually engaged in their ordinary pursuits, but were doing them so well that out of their special devotion and understanding came their great contributions to the world. Of course only a few of us achieve greatness, but most of us can do our everyday jobs well enough to achieve success and satisfaction for ourselves and those for whom we serve. And that's what we try to do when serving you. We get pleasure and satisfaction out of conscientious work, striving to please you abundantly. ## TOPICS Of the Town

PRINCIPAL NAMED

For the first time in 10 years, E. Michael, principal of Mount Pleasant High School, Delaware, has been appointed principal of Princeton High School. Mr. H. Rhodes, who will take over his new duties as assistant to the superintendent and secretary to the Board of Education on July 1.

Mr. Michael is one of 23 candidates who were brought to the attention of the Board by university placement bureaus and a variety of private sources across the country. Mount Pleasant Senior High is a new school, and Mr. Michael was responsible for organizing and administering its first induction. It has a student body of 1200, grades 10 through 12.

During his four years at the school, he introduced many curricular innovations, some of them designed for talented students and others for pupils less gifted. He introduced advanced courses in foreign languages and did experimental work in the use of language laboratories.

Accelerated courses in math and scientific physics were also launched during Mr. Michael's years at the school. Like Princeton High School, Mount Pleasant has participated in the National Merit Scholarship Program, and Mr. Michael devised for Mount Pleasant a decelerated algebra program for those students who needed time to master the subject. The success of this program encouraged him to explore a similar approach in other areas, and indications were subsequently made in the social studies curriculum.

Under Mr. Michael's supervision, Mount Pleasant was an experimental center in the University of Delaware's speed reading program.

The new principal revised the marking system for Mount Pleasant. Since his work in this field was reported in the Bulletin of the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

He is well known in the Mount Pleasant community for his singular effectiveness in counseling the potentially delinquent student.

In making the announcement of Mr. Michael's appointment at the Board of Education meeting Tuesday, Graham E. Johnson, president of the Board, said that the students are fortunate in obtaining an experienced principal who has been eminently successful in a comparable educational situation. His aspirations are similar to those of Princeton.

A graduate of Eastern Illinois State College with a major in mathematics, Mr. Michael has a master's degree in administration from Washington University, St. Louis and has done graduate work at the University of Illinois and the University of Delaware. He was awarded a research fellowship at Columbia University, where he declined in order to accept the Princeton appointment.

Mr. Michael is a veteran of World War II with a record of eight months of combat duty in the European Theater under General George Patton. Mrs. Michael is an elementary school teacher and will be teaching the first class at Evergreen Township. The Michael's will move to Princeton next week.

FIREWORKS WEDNESDAY
In Palmer Stadium. The annual Fourth of July program (25 years) has again been sponsored each summer by the Princeton Community Band.

The band's annual program of music by the Princeton Community Band will begin the evening's activities at 8 o'clock. Richard Grunberger will direct.

At 9, the Post Color Guard, in charge of James Whitlow and Harold M. Hinckson, Jr., will present the colors. The traditional fireworks display, always one of the most spectacular in the State, will climax the program.

The Ionia Fireworks Co. of Flemington, which has produced the many varied sets, rockets and bombs for the past 25 years, has again been awarded the contract. The firm presents displays each year in many parts of the United States.

As a safety precaution, guards will be posted throughout the grounds to prevent persons from using fireworks or sparklers (illegal for individual use) will be placed in police custody. Free parking for the thousands who will enter each day will be provided free of charge in the stadium and west of Washington Road on Godwin Field.

The admission charge is $1 for adults, with children under 12 admitted free. Refreshments will be sold inside the stadium, with a staff of 150 required to operate all aspects.

Speaking of dogs, a Princetonian gave a birthday party for his eight-year-old, friendly and cheerful dog, who, as reports go, a democratic affair in which a number of those in attendance had no idea whether they were to be happily oblivious or the shadow of total restraint.

The birthday cake was made of cottage cheese, and when it was time to go, all departed barking despite the fact that the games on the program had included neither puppy-wants-a-corner nor skin the cat.

TWO DISTRICTS DROPPED

From "Sendin' Up The Olden Days," and Hopewell Borough will be told this week that Princeton High School can accept no new pupils from either municipality after the academic year 1964-65.

The Hopewell Board of Education took the action at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

In addition, the Board voted to modify Rockys Hill and Plainsboro's terms of receiving the sending agreement, now through 1967-68, subject to renewal unless there is an unforeseen increase in the population of Princeton High.

West Windsor presents a special case and the Board will consider that Township the Board confirmed the appointment of William Rhodes, former principal of Princeton High School, as assistant to the superintendent and secretary to the Board of Education. In his new duties as secretary, Mr. Rhodes will be responsible for school elections and the preparation of data for the annual budget.

Mr. Assistant to the Charter Director, he will undertake a study of long-range enrollment problems and population projections, a study of such topics as school facilities, salaries for the several staffs and the like, and will prepare applications for National Defense Education Act funds, as well as performing specialized tasks that arise from time to time.

HIRING POSTPONED
On Great Road Sewer Township Committee did not hold a public hearing on the Great Road sewer project Monday night because the ordinances still being rechristened by the Township's board counsel. The hearing will probably be held late this month.

Progress in the Hillsdale Avenue sewer situation was reviewed by Administrator John Nunn, who told the committee that he and James Breth, Township engineer, and a representative of Buck Steffert Co., a local contractor for the municipality, had met to discuss the engineering, survey and design of the Hillsdale project.

Later, Mr. Nunn said, he had met with Malcolm Crooks of the New Jersey Millstone Watershed Association and Montgomery Township's board members to discuss the problem.

A suggested solution to Hillsdale's sewer problems has been a program of cooperation between the Hillsdale and Montgomery Townships which has a natural topographic affinity with the Hillsdale area of Princeton Township.

Parts of Princeton Township's topographic map have been made available to the Montgomery engineers. Monte Carlo, which is possible that an engineering feasibility study of sewer cooperation will be made.

Mr. Nunn then said that the representative of Buck Steffert and Yost would draw up plans of alternative solutions by the end of the week and that Committee could then decide what to do.

"When I asked A. J. Cavers, of 18K Cavers Avenue, president of residents of that area, 'Let's step things up faster,'

Mayor K. Kenneth Fairman said it would take about three street ordinances were introduced first, one for parking on Lovers Lane, the second provides for separation of eight drainage problems and the third provides for constructing John Birch Avenue and park which enters the Community Park.

"There isn't enough parking at Marquand Park during Little League games," said Cavers, adding, "I'd like to see you go to Lovers' Lane parking, you should enlarge those lots."

The areas where drainage problems will be repaired are Quaker and Parkside, Mercer two, on Mercer, Harrison south of Clearview, Shady Dell, near the intersection of the Jessup of Mt. Lucas and Red Hill, Mt. Lucas north of Valley and Jefferson Road near the property of W. W. Swindall.

The John Street ordinance will allow $11,800 to build the leg of John north of Birch Avenue, Community Park School, with developments on the public hearings on all three ordinances will be held July 16.

The assessors' report on part of the Van Dyke-Turhorne Road improvement was returned for review after Committee found that some costs had not been taken into account an agreement between the Township and Trinity Church concerning payment for road construction.

Following a special hearing in which accusations were made and denied, philosophies of neighborhood zoning and the zoning habits of the Princeton community were explored. Committee renewed the liquor license of the White Horse Tavern, 9 Birch Avenue, Felix

Looking over the editor's shoulder as he wrote "Round-Up" (page 2), Pete learned that last week Princeton was dry and heavy rain while other parts of Mercer County were dry—and vice versa. After more rain this week, he was ready to follow the sun anywhere.

Keeping dry shouldn't be too much of a problem for the 18K Cavers Avenue residents of that area. Let's step things up faster,"

Major K. Kenneth Fairman said it would take about

Mr. Wells said there were four taverns in the neighborhood, one of which, he said, was a residence subjected to taverns in such close proximity to homes.

He also charged that Township police were causal about answering police calls to Birch Avenue and often arrived after the disturbance was over.

Committee Chairman Thomas P. Cook challenged this, and said he would confer with Police Chief James Campbell.

The license for The White Horse Tavern was renewed because Committee and Township Attorney Gordon Griffin determined that the application of the law involved in Mr. Wells' charges, and that insufficient evidence had been presented.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Canterbury Tales (July 27-Aug. 21) is a play written based on the true story of an American-born, naturalized Swede, Eric Erickson, whose information led to Allied bombardments of German cities. The scenes in Stockholm, Berlin, Hamburg, and Copenhagen are filled with excitement. William MacMaray makes an excellent MacMaray, the foppish and brilliant Lilli Palmer as a German woman who has sold out to the Nazis, and Eric Erickson because she has done nothing but this repulsive person. Commonly, basically true cloak-and-dagger.

Bon Voyage (July 4-10) Fred MacMaray, a slick, good-natured median, plays the role of dad, who takes wife Jane Wyman and the three kids to Paris. The trip will be 20 years because of this reason or that unexpected birth. MacMaray puts his worst foot forward at the sailing party where he gets

MUSIC In Princeton

FIRST CONCERT FRIDAY
By Community Band. This Friday at 7:30 p.m. on the lawn in front of Nassau Hall, the Princeton Community Band under conductor C. Geytemeyer will present its first twilight concert of the summer season.

Paul Lavelle's "United Press March," dedicated to "the newspaper, radio and television reporters of the free world," will open the program.

An overture for band written by Mendelssohn when he was 15, will continue the program, followed by William Schuman's "Chester." This work, by the contemporary American, is a set of variations on the old tune, "Chester," written by one of America's first composers, William Billings. It was a famous marching song during the Revolutionary War.

Douglas Vaughn Williams' Folk Song Suite; Rossini's "Marah" from the score of the movie, "Quo Vadis"; a group of songs by Richard Rogers and Sir William Walton's "Crown Imperial March" will bring the program to a close. The Walther March was composed in 1801 for the coronation of King George VI.

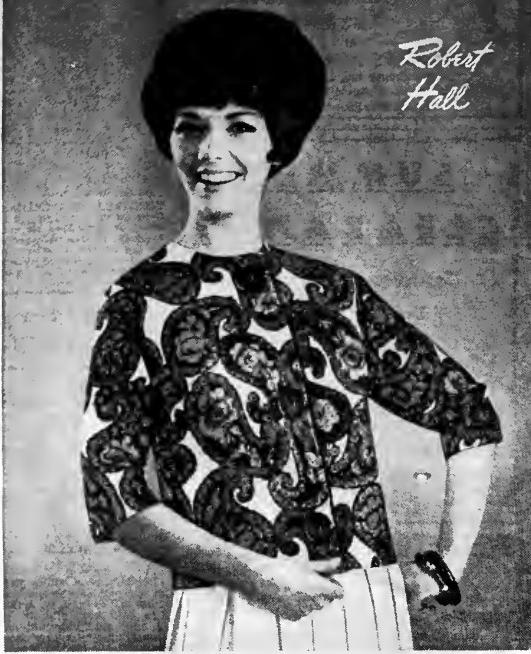

In case of rain, the band will play next Monday at the same hour. The band will also play at the Fourth of July celebration in Palmer Stadium.

The cast, held over from "Nurse," convey a sense of hilarious urgency in the unrelenting series of major and petty crimes. Comment: The Keystone Cops all over again.

Newcomer Rita Tushingham plays Helen. Far from pretty, she has a frank, forthright, even slightly sadistic, innocence and joy of living. WHO'S AFLOAT?

Zinder's For One. All is awash these days at Zinder's where most of the stock is ready to be launched into wading pools or oceans.

We were particularly taken with—but not on—Wakiki paddleboat outriggers with a plastic seat you straddle and a pair of paddles with an styrofoam outriggers to keep you afloat. It will hold 150 pounds and all we can hear is "Let me have it now, daddy!"

Daddy, however, will also enjoy a turn on the chaise longue, which is sleek and fully equipped to hold an adult in the middle of a lake all day long, sound asleep, while the kiddies, closer in to shore, play with their own water polo or volleyball game ($14.95) or a floating basketball game. (No, dear, no floating crap games!) There is a floating swimming game, too, with a pump to keep it down, and a ring-loss set. All these are styrofoam, but quite a different styrofoam from the Christiansburg implements that sprung up six months ago. This is a firm kind, impervious even to the knife, so Zinder's says.

Our favorite buoyant toy is the combination of a single vinyl ring. They come in a set with an underwater mask, and you throw them into the water, pin on the mask, and dove after them. Of course you could use rocks just as well! But it isn't more fun to dive for six weighted vinyl rings? Naturally.

For land-lubbers, or should we say grounders, Zinder's has a boat-like train. Hold on by your trade. Stamp hand on the spring and stamp hand on the spring and bounce a ball into the air. If, as you swing, you hear rattles inside the bat, you know you've had a good and hard swing. If you don't hear anything, your contract may not be renewed for next season. Good luck!

The store also has a collection of various esoteric jet and rocket toys, including a two-stage rocket which goes up to 500 feet for $2.98. And a one-stage that goes an indefinite number for $1.98, saving taxpayers' money thereby.

The Aqua-Jet plane attaches to your garden hose and will swoop high or low by a turn of the faucet handle. Sprinkle's the lawn—on the water, but don't tell the water company.

To enliven your bar, Zinder's presents Gentleman Weather. A wound-up gentleman who, after he has wound him up, takes a drink and smacks his lips as his nose turns red and smoke comes out of his ears. You can even make rattle in his cocktail tail.

A more sober friend is Maxwell, the coffee-drinking bear. Stein comes out of his coffee cup, he drinks, and drinks and drinks.

Gardener's Paradise

An exquisite sunken rose garden, next to a flagstone patio, with a brook that meanders into a large goldfish pond, big old trees, well cared for lawn bordered by beautiful flowers and shrubs in addition to outstanding foundation planting make this truly a gardener's delight. It is very rare these days to find the protection and seclusion offered with these two acres and still be close to town.

This home has three over-sized bedrooms with two baths plus maid's room and bath, a total of 17 closets, living room with fireplace, wall oven and range, dishwasher, washer-dryer combination, electrically operated doors in the two-car garage. In fact, this house offers all the modern ease and convenience of indoor and outdoor living and entertainment, including swimming pool and bathhouse.

Present owners for the past ten years reluctantly are selling because of transfer to West Coast.

Asking price: $55,000

Daisy School Action.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
On April 3, 1962, the Board of Education requested the Township Board of Education to "indicate our future relationship" (namely Borough-Township) after the expiration of the current inter-district relationship in 1965.

On April 11, 1962, the Township Board of Education approved a letter written by Mr. Richard Pearson, Chairman of the Township Board, to the Board of Education on April 11, 1962, stating firmly that the Township Board could not commit future Township students to take less than three things I what would be done to take care of increased future Township school enrollment, if no curriculum changes were contemplated. 3. what would be done to meet the absolute necessity of some form of representation of the Township on the Borough Board of Education.

On June 29, 1962, the Borough Board of Education asked for an immediate release of the contract from 1965-72.

On June 21, 1962, the Township Board voted to move forward to extend the sending-district relationship with the High School until 1970 (five years), to require that each year the top ten bid districts go without even repeating, much less insisting upon, the three demands of Mr. Pearson's letter of April 19.

cautious change of policy, especially without an opportunity for any public discussion or even information. I cannot understand. Instead, I am uprooting the question in June. And I cannot understand how, so completely and rapidly, to what we referred to as "ultimatum,"

I should like to ask publicly that the Board of Education take at least one more important action, at least until fall, when the Township P.T.A.s can be informed that the Board, with all its tremendous ramifications, is in the process of being made and can be given an opportunity to express themselves.

That is my guess. My guess, but my guess is that the action taken on Thursday June 29, 1962, is in opposition to the growing majority of Township parents of high school students.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Martindell of 132 Elm Road have adopted a 10-month-old Chinese girl living in Hong Kong, through the Foster Parents Plan. The Martindells have promised to contribute $15 a month toward the child's support for at least one year.

Foster Parents' Plan which has rehabilitated more than 76,000 children on a personal basis since it was founded in 1937, is helping more than 27,000 children in Greece, Italy, Korea, France, Viet Nam, Hong Kong and the Philippines. know heard about this current fashion for delightfully realistic plastic flowers and asked myself, "What's the secret?" With plastic lawn without plastic crabgrass and without certain growth features. They're working on it, we understand.

Until that day, however, we're perfectly content with the plastic growth we find at the Flower Coop on Union Street. Among the current fancy is a headlong collection of plain and fancy straw hats, each one decorated to custom with whatever flower seems appropriate at the moment.

The hats are pink, orange, black, maroon, with colorful little birds or brims with a wind-spread of two and a half-one foot (you think we're kidding?) are all decorated by hand by a local master craftsman and some are made from here to there, in a flourishing custom-business.

We went down to a fetchin' on with black grapes and green grape-leaves around the crown, and another creamy white one with limpid brim and a sprig of pine vines. The list could be endless, but you can see for yourself.

Under foot, the Flower Coop places a "grass" doormat with a cluster of white daisies in each corner, and earmarks it for poolside or porch.

Also for pondsides—a watery coaster on a stand with green plastic leaves which can stand wind and rain. Matching the doormat, a large cut-and-fold made like a great big yellow daisy. Tilt it up to present a smiling yellow face to your guests, then tilt it back down again. Price $2.50. The flower coaster is $5, the watery coaster is $5.

Cachepots in white basket-weave or frosted glass are modestly priced ($5 for a 6 inch lined pot and cool for the summer greenery you will put in them, like the "bamboo" plastic plants, or the hanging ferns. Buy a Spanish basket, complete with bamboo, for $15.

'MORVEN' IS A LITTLE
WORLD IN ITSELF. It's tallled.
Things have changed at Morven since the Meyners moved out and the Hughes family moved in.*

*Ever since Easter Monday,
the old house has been humming as it did in the days of the first occupants, the prolific and hospitable Stockton family.*

*There are ten children in and about the Meyner's Mar-sion—eight of them living at home. "We has to turn the third floor into a dormitory for the five boys," Mrs. Richard J.
Hughes said one day.
"Nobody had lived up there for 40 years."*

The walls painted a really gay yellow. I put in two sets of bunk beds and a regular bed and a roll-away eat for guests. The furniture up there is 'motel modern.'

"I FIRST SAW MORVEN some years ago with a Trenton Junior League group," says Mrs. Richard J. Hughes, with a honey, aged 5. "I never thought I'd live here. Last summer I came to Morven again and saw the upstairs. But I didn't do any planning—I wasn't sure that Dick would win!" (Staff Photo)

The Governor's wife considered her move "a bit of a gamble" and then said, "With all the traffic back and forth between the 18th century on the first floor and motel modern on the third,
I just leave it alone with a spell of personal—3 real schizophre-nic."

She had turned the three bedrooms into bedrooms for Johnny, 18, whom she is going on weekends from Delbarton Michael, 13, Pat, 11, Tim, 10 and Brian, 6. Brian graduated from the second grade and the baby, Thomas More, came home. Mary, 12, and Honey 5, share a room across the hall
from the baby.

Oldest Son Is 27. Michael Pat and Tim are the children of Mrs. Hughes' first marriage.
"I call them Murphy-Hughes," she says. Then there are the Governor's older children, Dick, 27, with the Air Force in California, and Hobby is at Fordham Law School.

Hobby was married the day after Christmas. "We'll be grandparents in November," Betty Hughes laughed. "The patter of little feet won't die out around here!"

"We needed a family room,"
she went on. "Slightly suggested that we turn the upstairs—the sitting room into a living room. But that would mean we'd have to dash outdoors in all kinds of weather to get there. So we took out the central column to use."

"It was very formal and beautifully furnished. There was a grand piano, here, red sofa and over-the-chair, top draped in white. She indicated the couch and easy chairs, sup-covered in a plain of soft sheepskin brown and orange,
and the other furnishings.
"These are all my things."

Tidily tucked into one corner were a toy bureau and a toy box. They sit on a side wall, near the TV. It was painting of a clown. It was an attractive, homey room.

Family Refuge. "This shut off nicely from the rest of the house," Betty Hughes remarked in quiet triumph. "The children can play in the room in here. The big doors leading to the patio make it easy for them to get out and play." She was managed to achieve a family retreat from the tourists and official guests who come to Morven.

"Helen and I, the Meyners, held a house down 12
months of the year," she commented, "but we've had to decide July, August and December to fit eight children swarming all over the place.
we felt this should be family months."

Sprinkling restrictions have been lifted by the Princeton Water Company because of the weight of recent rainfalls, and householders may now sprinkle lawns at will, at least for the time being.

Future regulations will depend on the water supply situation as it develops during the summer, according to Walter B. Johnson, secretary of the firm.

Swimming pool owners have been asked to confer with the Princeton Water Company and its company to make sure that all of the pools aren't being filled at the same time.

INCINERATOR DAMAGED
The incinerator at the Borough Incinerator on River Road was extensively damaged last Wednesday afternoon when hundreds of pressure cylinders from the E. C. Morris Company, North Brunswick, placed in the incinerator by the Princeton Disposal Service, exploded. Borough officials placed the amount of damage at $6000.

The cans from Squibb were expected to have contained narcotics to be destroyed. Instead, later, it was discovered they contained a surgical dressing spray with an inflammatory base. "They were not empty," said Arthur T. Brokaw, Borough engineer.

Mr. Brokaw reported that it would take two weeks to repair the incinerator. During this period the Borough will temporarily land fill its disposal of its waste, a normal procedure.

The heat created by the exploding and ricocheting cans was intense and it was not unusual for Friday, two days later, that it was possible to enter the incinerator. The major damage done was to the brick fire wall lining the incinerator. Since there were only nine inches of brick, there are now only three. "All the fire brick will have to be removed," said Mr. Brokaw, "which means a lot of masonry work."

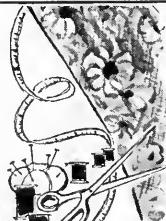

The Princeton Disposal Service, 138 Moore Street, private disposal contractors, have accepted responsibility for the mishap, Mr. Brokaw said. He reported that the Borough has fire and explosion coverage for the incinerator and that one claim from Squibb had also visited the site. "It's just a question of what insurance company is going to pay," he feels.

As to the big question of who is to blame remains. "Some one knew those cans didn't contain narcotics," said Mr. Brokaw, although the narcotics is required to be supervised by a U.S. federal agent, no one except the two truck drivers was present at the time.

Dear Princeton:

Our days are so full there is no time to be homesick much less write home. When we return the events of yesterday, it seems like a week's time crammed into 24 hours. By now, we are pretty well accustomed to the change of time, diet and language and are even thriving on it. It will be a difficult transition to return to a quiet summer in Princeton.

On Friday morning, we sang in Kongresssaal in Berlin. It is a massive marble structure shaped like a circle with a tower in the center, and appropriately nicknamed "The Pregnant Oyster" by the German people. The "Magical Concert" of the "Symphony of Psalms" excited them, and the Wehren left them stunned. This has been the general reception.

The applause is not as vigorous as that of American audiences, but far more persistent. It lasted for several minutes after the applause died down. Mr. Hulish thanked the audience in rough German for our warm reception. The audience burst into applause again.

At the final program, Dr. Wilhelm Twittenhoff, a member of the Committee of the People's Council of Music, Dance and Drama for Young People, spoke of the young singers from the United States who had a concert at the Festhalle in Berlin. The girls sang solo for us to sing very difficult music, and sang it with such ease and skill that he hoped their performance would be a goal to work toward so that more students could perfect themselves in the art.

At the same time, he said he felt that it was not only a musical exchange but also that political understanding was also necessary and that through this festival, there could be a better understanding and cooperation between countries. Mrs. McKinney (Matthew McKinney) translated this speech as it was made.

Reviews of our concert appeared in several German newspapers. "Die Welt" critic said he wished we had an orchestra instead of just a piano.

The Choir presented a performance of Wehren's cantata opus 29-31 which even for a small choir, I think, will be the high point of the group's career. The fact that the choir, through the means of its sure control of musical interpretation, was able to sing so convincingly honed in on the wonderful. The soloists were two men, Hans-Joachim Maria Ramseier and Dietmar Rohrbeck.

"The Symphony of Psalms" lost through the lack of orchestral accompaniment, which is a major part of the piece. Nevertheless, the teaching value of the performance, a first hand knowledge through actual singing, cannot be minimized.

The city of Berlin took us to lunch at the Hotel Am Hof as recognition of our performance.

The next two days were spent in sightseeing and shopping. Sunday morning we left Berlin to fly to Hamburg. Before we left the hotel, we assembled on the sidewalk to ring the German National Anthem, all joined in the chorus, inside and a German group living above us. The maids parked a bouquet of wild flowers on the table.

After the German group sang "Auf Wiedersehen" as we pulled away for the airport.

Sunday was the 17th of June, a holiday celebrated throughout Germany to commemorate the revolution of the workers in East Berlin in 1953. This year the sentiments of the people rose even higher, as this is the first 17th of June since the Wall was built.

Our stay in Hamburg lasted two nights. For a pleasant surprise, we had two days to go in a room, and running water in every room. However, no one could find a shower or bathtub anywhere.

Many of us fell in love with Hamburg. The people who resided there offered a cheerful contrast to Berlin. There were fewer rules from the war and we were situated within a block of a large number of people in Hamburg seemed to express themselves more freely than those in Berlin. The cars moved faster and the boys were more free.

Our mission in Hamburg was to tape the two Wehren Cantatas. Having completed them on Monday evening, we left for Frankfurt on Tuesday.

To most of us, I think, our stay seemed a temporary period — a time to catch up on sleep — to think back to our time in Berlin — or to plan forward to the time we would spend with our "families" in Hanover.

From the point of view of personal experience, and contact with Germany and its people, our stay in Hanover has been the most rewarding of all so far. We met many of the Chinese who live in Germany with a son or daughter of approximately the same age who usually spoke some English.

All the families have been most gracious. None of us has stopped eating for the three

Question of the Week

Question: In your opinion, is being an only child a handicap? But they have to put the brakes on early cap?

Where asked: Around town.

Mrs. Robert H. Johnson, 420 Prospect Avenue, housewife: Yes, I think there is because the only child lacks the environment in which he learns the importance of cooperation and compromise among children in his own life. I feel that is the chief handicap.

Charles Verker, Seminary student: Yes, I think there is. The burden of loyalty and family ties have no way of being distributed. You carry them alone. It's quite a job when you haven't any brothers or sisters to help share the burden.

Mrs. Herbert Nelson, 408 Nassau Street, housewife: No, it doesn't need to be. That depends on the parents and how they bring up an only child. But if they give the child opportunity to associate and play with other children, so he can learn not to be selfish.

Charles Cullen, Yardley, Pa., chemist for EMC: A lot would depend on the parents, it could go either way. But in some respects, I would say an only child deserves the advantage of learning to share things and tends to be sheltered by the parents somewhat. Brothers and sisters are more or less like forces forced to go along with the wishes of their parents but this isn't always true of an only child.

Mrs. William E. Coley, 97 Randolph Road, secretary: Well, I am an only child and I think it is a matter of course one develops in not giving into and catering to an only child and letting him stand on their own feet. The first reaction of mine is that parents shouldn't jump every time their children get into their mouths.

Timothy Haigh, 13, 21 Rollingmeade: No, I don't think so. I am an only child. You don't have any older brothers or sisters to knock you around or tell you what to do. I wouldn't want to have any younger ones either because they would always be getting into your stuff.

John Westfeld, 12, 39 Rollingmeade: Definitely not. I prefer having no brothers or sisters to get into my hair. You have the company of other friends to play with.

George Stone, Fairhope, Ala., former Princeton resident, retired: I think it is to a certain extent because they are the center of attention and get too much attention. There have no competition and are allowed to become the star of the family. But if the parents treat that child as though he has too much of an acclaim, then it isn't necessarily any child's outlook on life is going to be somewhat distorted. He is going to be fussed over and made to feel by his parents that he is special. When he grows up and has to face life alone, when he has to go out on his own, I think he will be more likely to be successful for some partly because he will until he gets straightforward out. An only child always wants to have his own way—they're selfish. But it's not always that. It's the parent's. It's one's human nature to want to spoil an only child.

Mrs. Marjorie Smith, Yardley, Pa., receptionist-hotel keeper for Mason, Griffin, Moore & Cook, 201 Nassau Street: I think an only child so I would say, yes, it is. I think it is a handicap. In fact, I think it is a great advantage. Parents can devote more attention to you and be more interested in you than in another child. The relationship between parents and an only child. And I can't see any disadvantage except that you may be less self-sufficient. You live in an adult world and you don't have the company of other children.

Robert Kreider, Highstown, insurance salesman: I feel it would depend on the parents. The number of children a couple has does not matter, it is how they rear them that counts. I'd like to add that a lot would depend on the parents' income. If you have a large family, you can afford more children. Some families can be just as much of a handicap for a child to be a member of a large family that the parents can't readily support.

Mrs. Sally Crawford, Philadelphia, former Princeton receptionist-secretary for Miller Instrument Company: Yes, I think it is. Because I think it is an advantage to their social development if there are other children in the family. Playing with other children contributes more to the social development of an only child than just surrounding them with other children on part-time basis in a school environment. Also, an only child is more apt to be spoiled. Coming from a large family, I know.

TOWNSHIP. An individual program for Princeton Township has been announced by John O. Green, Jr., and Carl C. Schafer, Republican candidates for Township Committee.

• Committee to study joint operations. Both candidates believe that consolidation would probably have "great appeal" for enough Township, but they ask for a study of the problem, and announce their encouragement of and support for a joint program of Township Committee and Borough Council to appoint a citizens' committee to study areas of possible cooperation before any formal committee. "Only a complete study will permit an intelligent decision to his made," Mr. Green and Mr. Schafer believe.

• Sewer Improvement and Expansion Program. The candidates support the sewer program outlined by the Township Committee, particularly the installation of facilities in the Hillside Avenue area and in the diabase area in the northern part of the Township."

• Development of Community Gardens. "A schedule for research and development of this area should be established and carried through as rapidly as possible."

• "Open Space" Program. Both candidates support the recommendations of the Open Space Committee, and pledge themselves to acquire land ac-

• Zoning and Multiple Housing: The two candidates believe in a "strong and enforceable zoning ordinance designed to preserve and enhance the quality of life in the Township of the Princeton Community as described by the Township Planning Board." They welcome the formation of a citizens' organization devoted to these objectives and encourage the town's recommendation of the committee on multiple housing.

ROBOUGH PLANS SALE

On Poorhouse Property. The property, which is a 1 1/2 acre, 342-foot lot located on lower Alexander Street near Stony Brook, in the Township. Two other parcels of the land have been sold. "Properties previously" were disposed of by previous councils, and the ground has been leveled of all buildings.

Council has placed a minimum bid of $20,000 on the lot, in accordance with the advice of appraisers, and will retain the right to select the buyer. Alexander Street takes a 90-degree turn at the property, giving the lot a 180-foot frontage along the street.

PRINCETON GLEN GRANT
DR. EVERETT N. CASE: Princeton University is one of five institutions receiving grants of $1,000,000 each from the Alfred P. Sloan Foundation to help strengthen the education of engineers, particularly at the graduate level.

The Foundation is concerned over the fact that in the face of increasing enrollment, engineering registrations have been declining. It believes one reason for the decline is that high school students mistakenly think engineering is old and old-fashioned. Through these grants, the Foundation will assist in the development of a new and attractive type of graduate engineering program.

The Alfred P. Sloan Foundation was established in 1934 primarily as a grant-making organization to promote education, scientific research and related activities. Dr. Everett N. Case, president of Princeton University, is a president-elect of the Sloan Foundation. A graduate of Princeton University, Class of 1922, he will take office July 1.

The Adult Psychotherapy Center will be financed by private contributions. Dr. Concole said, with the possible exception of the first year, no fees will be charged through the State. He estimates that $20,000 will be needed for the first year of operation, of which $10,000 will be paid by the state, with an amount up to $5,000

"There is much thought as to 'low-cost psychotherapy,'" Dr. Concole continued. "A more accurate term would be 'subsidized psychotherapy.' The professional personnel will be contributing their time free, or at a minimum fee. This would apply in private practice, but there are other expenses that make it necessary for interested citizens to contribute to the center."

"The need is great and existing facilities are inadequate.
 We cannot hope to meet the need immediately. We intend to expand gradually, to organize to maintain the highest standards, to keep adequate records. After we are established, we will be able to expand and the hope is that sooner or later, we will have a center that will take care of Princeton's needs."

The projected center is to be located in the former office of the Whitney Center. It represents the results of surveys among area doctors, psychiatrists, psychologists, social

BUILDING PROPOSED

For Chambers Street, a four-story office building may be erected on Chambers Street if Rothesay Zoning Board grants a waiver of about 25 car spaces so that the parking requirements of the zoning ordinance will be met in case will be heard before the Zoning Board this Thursday night.

The building is proposed for the land now occupied by the Nassau and Company Motor Sales, which present owners hope to build a structure 78 by 126 feet in the center of the 22,120 square-foot tract.

They propose to provide parking for about 55 cars on both sides of the building and under it, but this is only about two-thirds of the number required by the zoning ordinance.

Fulmer and Bowers, architects, have made the application for an unnamed client.

Takes Over Second Place. A 10-7 triumph over Industrial Reactor Laboratory during a week in which Gulton Orting had won three games, RCA had won two, and the remaining four teams in the Business Softball League, Defending champion Educational Testing retained the lead by rallying to win the last home opinion research, 21 to 11.

Two home runs by Jim Clark paved ETS' 20-11 at-tack, with four of the six hits coming from Mike Hopkins. For the losers, Ed Brown collected three of the ten hits yielded by winning pitcher Ralph Shotton of RHA.

The result sent RCA into the current week with a 5-2 mark, just a game behind ETS. Gulton's 6-5 loss of a pair was responsible for its skip from second place to fifth in the eight-team league.

Four hits by the slugging Jim Clark and a home run by Frank Fava were the highlights in Electro-Mechanical Research's 11-14 victory over Gulton. Frank Fava and Bill Hartman had four hits apiece, while others between them in a losing cause. The contest was rescheduled from a previous rain-out.

Gulton also was beaten by Engineering Research Center, 16-6, with Wayne Meeks and

John Ferrell hitting. It followed by Dick Parcelli and including attack. For Gulton, Bob McHugh, Ed Kari, Pettit Bob Quinn and Jim Roberts and Jack Chubert, Sam Steward and Frank Mountain. —Continued on Page 27

Meanwhile, Electro-Mechanical Research moved into first division by recording its second consecutive win, 17-8 defeat of Columbian Carbon. A five-run first went far to assure the outcome as Ralph Derek hammered and Jack Chubert belted two each. While steadily Jack Callan and Ed Prokopy collected home runs for the beaten team.

The last was first and the first was last for a while, as cellar-dwelling Opinion Research took an 11-5 lead over the last-place team at the fifth. Matters changed quickly, however, ETS launching a blistering attack that brought it an eventual 21-11 victory.

Jay Patrick, who hit twice for the second, Schibetta and ETS out of the wilderness with combined 10-4. A chance that GRC might avert its sixth straight loss was briefly postponed by a good game the plate credited to Dexter Noller. Dan Hough, manager Jim Custer and Frank Cox.
